BQE Software Wins Awesome Application Award Honor Recognizes Innovation, Ease-of-Use and Design

TORRANCE, CA — October 22, 2012 — BQE Software Inc. is pleased to announce that its flagship product, BillQuick has won the 2013 Awesome Application award by The Sleeter Group, a company dedicated to researching the marketplace and finding the best accounting technology solutions to help small businesses work smarter, faster and more efficiently.

With thousands of accounting and management programs on the market for small businesses, the Awesome Applications award signifies that BillQuick is among the most productive and effective technologies, and that it meets the highest standards of design, ease-of-use, and conformance with appropriate accounting standards. "The award is a true recognition of how our development team, in participation with active customers, can focus on innovations that result in design simplicity and an enhanced user experience," said Shafat Qazi, CEO and Founder of BQE Software. "I'm proud of our team that has helped keep BQE on the cutting-edge of technology and a true leader in business applications marketplace."

"BillQuick earned the Awesome Applications award because it provides great features and seamless integration with standard small business management systems that those in the professional services industry, especially accounting firms, need," said Doug Sleeter, the Founder and President of The Sleeter Group. "By enhancing business programs like QuickBooks with the addition of these capabilities, small and mid-sized companies are able to increase efficiency and productivity.
